

CHILD HAD A DREADFUL COUGH
Was Told His Tonsils Would Have to Come Out,
IS WELL WITHOUT THAT
Says You Wouldn't Recognize Him as the Same Boy.
Lung-Vita the Reason

"My little boy, seven years old, had a fearful cough," said Mrs. Elma Cooper, of 1701 Hamilton street, Nashville, in the statement she gave us several days ago. "The doctor wanted to take his tonsils out and said his lungs were affected. After I had tried everything else I got Lung-Vita and he began taking it. Now you wouldn't recognize him as the same boy. It has worked wonders with him and I can say it is a great medicine."

Colds, coughs, grippe, whooping cough—we are all subject to them. And what do you do when they attack you? They should not be neglected—Lung-Vita will break them up and in addition will make you feel better all around. Keep it on hand.

Lung-Vita is sold by druggists and dealers. (ADV.)

KINKY HAIR

Don't let some fake Kink Remover fool you. You really can't straighten your hair until it's nice and long. That's what EXELENTO QUINNE does. It removes dandruff, feeds the roots of the hair, and makes it grow long, soft and silky. After using a few times you can tell the difference, and after a while you'll be so pretty and long that you can't get it up to suit you. If you want to do so we claim, we will give you money back. 25c by mail on receipt of empty bottle or return.

NOTES ON RACIAL PROGRESS.

FURNISHED BY NATIONAL NEGRO BUSINESS LEAGUE.

Following the announcement last fall that the National Negro Business League had invited Local Leagues to hold Trade Boosting and Advertising Campaigns, a number of cities, including Savannah and Macon, Georgia; Dallas and Waxahachie, Texas; and Fort Smith, Arkansas, under took to conduct such campaigns. Similar campaigns have been held in Philadelphia, New York, Atlanta, Georgia; and Nashville, Tennessee.

Roanoke, Virginia, is stated to have one of the best equipped and most beautiful Negro Theatres in the South. It is called the Hampton Theatre in honor of the Hampton Institute. Mr. Tiffany Tolver is president of the controlling company, which is composed of successful colored business and professional men.

The Fayetteville Coffin and Casket Company of Fayetteville, North Carolina, is capitalized for $50,000, a large part of which has already been paid in. This corporation is composed of successful colored undertakers of North Carolina.

William H. Bright, a member of the Boston Negro Business League, has recently opened a Hardware and Kitchen Furnishing store at 324 1-2 Tremont Street, Boston, Mass. Mr. Bright's wares consist, among other things, of window shades, gas burners, mantels, chimneys, tin, enameled, brass and glass ware, and crockery. This is a unique business enterprise, being the first and only one of its kind, it is said, conducted anywhere in New England by a colored man.

Announcement that the National Negro Business League has started a nation-wide campaign to advertise Negro business enterprises, with a view to their better support by colored people, comes at a time when they are awakening to a consciousness of increasing economic importance. Since the days of emancipation, the bulk of the race has remained in the South under economic and social conditions which have changed but slowly. The accepted basis of society has kept in the hands of the white man store-keeping and the professions, confining the Negro to tenant farming and unskilled labor. Gradually, such schools as Tuskegee, Calhoun, and a host of others have built up an ever-increasing body of men and women skilled in trades and trained to the use of the initiative and independent thinking. Fully twenty years ago this force began breaking through the caste system in isolated cases, the process being stimulated by the League founded by the late Booker T. Washington some fifteen years ago. The policy has been twofold, encouraging the individual pioneers by organization and educating the race out of the tradition that only the white man was qualified to engage in trade. Now that the labor shortage has forced the large employers of the country to look more to the South for unskilled and semi-skilled workers, the Negro is becoming more conscious of his importance industrially. One indirect effect should be to make the League's campaign more fruitful than if it had been launched at less opportune time. And the movement seems to be actuated by the right point of view. "These campaigns are not organized in any spirit of antagonism to merchants of other races," says the announcement, but for the sole purpose of advertising the existence of the Negro merchant." New York Evening Post.

LONG HAIR THAT IS SOFT, SMOOTH AND GLOSSY

Quinade, Invented by a New York Chemist, Stimulates and Nourishes the Roots of the Hair

Just as a good fertilizer nourishes the soil and produces a rich crop of wheat or corn, so will the proper remedy create a healthy condition of the scalp, and promote the growth of the hair. QUINADE stimulates and nourishes the roots of the hair, thereby causing a healthy growth. QUINADE was invented by a New York chemist, and is made under the personal supervision of a registered pharmacist of over 25 years' experience; this is a guarantee that QUINADE is as near pharmaceutical as can be. The ingredients are selected with great care, and nothing enters this high class preparation unless it is of the highest purity. Seely's QUINASOAP, the ideal shampoo, is an excellent aid to QUINADE in keeping the scalp in a clean, healthy condition. It should be used about every two weeks. Both articles are sold by druggists and dealers at 25c each or will be sent direct by Seely Drug Co., 79 E. 130th St., New York City, on receipt of price. Write for sample of QUINADE, mentioning the name of this paper. (ADV.)
